“With Today’s Electronic Blackboards The Course Catalog is Almost Limitless”

Richard Ruth

in supposed retirement is a staff member at Cuffe-McGinn Funeral Home and a teacher at St. Mary's High School. He was a very interesting speaker who told us what he has done and is doing currently - learning something new and fascinating every minute of every day!

Richard has spent approximately 32 years teaching - taught math from 1972-1979 at the Cobbett School (long closed) - today's kids are tough? No way, the Cobbett kids were tough!

He became the athletic director at Classical as well as teaching math and eventually retired but could not keep out of the classroom or stop taking advanced education courses, either.

Richard was fascinated with a recent development in education called the “Smart Board” which is an electronic “blackboard” (although the color is white) onto which you can create and project instantly to all the class mathematical formulae and active equations from keyboards in the classroom or on line consultations from the internet - the courses on line are almost limitless he commented.

So many students are now able to absorb and understand the very latest courses from sources worldwide - and the examinations, too, are taken over the internet! Teachers, such as himself, are there to answer questions and lead discussions so that today's top students become educated for the world of today approaching tomorrow! St. Mary's has this system and has become a leading school because of it.

Thank you, Richard! Our speaker will be a first-time grandfather in January. Responding to questions from our full house he commented that for those who might wish to learn more about the electronic blackboard systems they can search the www.KeystoneHighSchool.com website and click on AP, advanced placement sections.

President Michele

announced several of our upcoming programs and reminded members of many exciting approaching events.

Our Visiting Rotarian

was Dick Carter from Hyannis Rotary. Welcome, Dick!

Our Pot Is Growing

even though PP Mark got both lucky tickets, he did not draw the joker so the money is safe for one more week.

Michele Read A Plea

from a student asking for help - it is tied into a Red Sox program collecting warm clothing and is printed on page 2.

HOW DO YOUR INVESTMENT RETURNS STACK UP?

As you contribute to The Rotary Foundation, are you paying attention to what is coming back?

At their meeting in October 2005, the Foundation Trustees approved Matching Grants for projects in 15 different countries — a good reflection of where your contributions go to help meet international humanitarian needs. District Simplified Grants are an example of what comes back to your district and club from the Foundation to benefit your community.

For example, a visiting Group Study Exchange team can have a positive economic impact on your community through what it spends locally. Has your club taken advantage of an opportunity like this? Ambassadorial Scholars further illustrate what your district has given and received back through the Foundation. Look at the return on your investment, for example, when your district contributes from its District Designated Fund to the Scholarships Fund Pool for Low-Income Countries. The scholar awarded the grant might choose to study in your community, thus enriching your local economy.

Are you contributing to the Annual Programs Fund so your club and district can participate fully in the Foundation's programs and take advantage of the opportunities they provide?

Warm Up To Winter

Red Sox Kid Nation Captains Helping Kids

My name is Victoria Glidden and I am 10 years old. I am a student at Aborn Elementary School.

I am one of the 12 Red Sox Kid Nation Captains this year. Our service project with the Red Sox this year is to collect new and used winter coats for children who need them and money to buy winter coats for children.

On Nov. 15 the Kid Nation Captains will be going to Cradles to Crayons in Chelsea to box up the coats, hats and mittens we collected. The coats will be given to children of all ages in Massachusetts who need them so they can stay warm this winter.

My goal is to collect at least 406 coats, which was Ted William's batting average.

I would appreciate your help and donations for this project so us kids can help other kids.

Thank You
